SPOTLIGHT

Innovation Tech celebrates 10 years!

With the support of its districts and community partners, OCM BOCES took a chance on Innovation Tech in 2014 and, two years later, on Seven Valleys New Tech Academy in Cortland. Today, these non-traditional OCM BOCES “sister” schools continue to meet the needs of students who flourish in small, close-knit settings with a project-based approach to learning.

Building Community

Restorative Practices: Poke your head in almost any OCM BOCES classroom, and you’ll probably discover a regular “check-in” circle in which students and staff share their thoughts, feelings and forge close connections. OCM BOCES is committed to using circles and other Restorative Practice techniques to support a positive school culture, maintain healthy relationships, and resolve difficulties.

Firefighting & EMT program

This two-year Career & Technical Education program gives students access to training facilities, rescue equipment, and the expertise of emergency responders through an on-site classroom at the Madison County Emergency Management Training Center. Students have the opportunity to earn certifications in Basic Exterior Firefighting Operations (BEFO) and Emergency Medical Technician (EMT)-Basic.

OCM BOCES & Liverpool = Student Success

Liverpool senior Lily Clearo has found a comfortable place to learn and grow at STARS Alternative High School. She started the OCM BOCES program as a 9th-grader and hopes to attend SUNY Canton after graduating in June.

“Lily is a bright student who needed a different setting to find her comfort zone academically,” said Jay Kresge, an English Language Arts teacher. “The staff at STARS was able to provide that safe space for her growth.”

Lily agrees with that sentiment. STARS takes pride in offering a small, family-like educational setting. It emphasizes individualized connections between students and staff, social-emotional support, and a focus on 21st-century skills. Lily says the environment has given her support, flexibility and motivation to focus on her academics. Her favorite subjects are English and History, and she especially likes electives such as Forensic Science and Film and Literature. In college, she hopes to continue studying forensic science.

Jordan Del Fierro Nater, a science teacher at STARS, says Lily is committed to doing well and has noticeably matured socially and academically. She has great attendance, loves to read, and is always willing to participate in class discussions.

“She’s always willing to share her opinion on a topic,” he said.

Lily says she's glad she came to STARS. Her favorite part of school is “talking with the teachers and messing around with my classmates when all the work is done,” she said.

“I learned that, in a smaller school, I can get more help in understanding topics I couldn’t understand before,” Lily said. “I’ve also learned to do my work and talk to my friends without getting distracted.”

Did You Know?

Tim Patterson, an Instructional Technology Integration Specialist, provides support to teachers, students, and administrators in Liverpool every Thursday and Friday. Over the past school year, Tim has supported the district’s initiative to implement EduProtocols, a lesson framework that integrates technology into classroom instruction. In addition to his expertise in Google Workspace, Tim supports various district-approved tools, including Pear Deck, Snap&Read, Co:Writer, Canva, and Adobe Express.
