SPOTLIGHT

New Tech Schools Embody 'Portrait of a Graduate'

Our OCM BOCES "New Tech" high schools — Innovation Tech in Syracuse and Seven Valleys New Tech Academy in Cortland — exemplify the New York State Portrait of a Graduate. Through Project-Based Learning (PBL), students dive into meaningful, real-world projects that spark creativity, strengthen critical thinking, and build strong communication and problem-solving skills within a collaborative and inclusive school environment. Beyond the academic rigor of PBL, New Tech students are also encouraged to become self-reflective, responsible global citizens, fully bringing the Portrait's vision to life.

Promoting Attendance

School is better with YOU! That's the positive, spirited message we're sharing with students across OCM BOCES as we spotlight one of our top priorities for 2025-26: strong, consistent attendance. From vibrant signs and T-shirts to ParentSquare messages and bulletin boards, OCM BOCES is making this message impossible to miss! Committees across our Student Services programs are diving into attendance data and implementing strategies to encourage strong attendance. A key part of this effort is partnering with our OCM BOCES families to ensure every student is in school, on time and ready to learn.

Level Up! Video Game Design is Here

Creating video games offers a fun, inspiring and intellectually challenging feat for a growing number of students. That's why OCM BOCES' Media Marketing Communications program at WCNY in Syracuse will now offer a unit on video game design as part of its curriculum. The hands-on, project-based nature of game design allows students to cultivate their design, art and technical expertise while also building skills such as problem-solving, communication, and understanding the needs of video game players. Best of all, students will continue to learn within a real-world business setting at WCNY, working alongside WCNY staff on projects across TV, radio, social media, web and print platforms.

OCM BOCES & NORTH SYRACUSE = STUDENT SUCCESS

North Syracuse senior Leo "Rookie" Nguyen has discovered both a welcoming community and an inspiring place to learn through the OCM BOCES New Vision Engineering Professions program at Lockheed Martin.

Rookie describes the experience as a "double win"—a chance to gain real-world insight from professional engineers while building connections with a company he hopes to work for in the future. That's the heart of the Lockheed Martin partnership: students like Leo take on-site classes from a BOCES instructor and rotate among Lockheed professionals, gaining hands-on experience in mechanical, electrical, systems, and software engineering.

Rookie says programs like these are "a rarity."

"The way our classroom mirrors the workplace—instead of another school—makes me feel like I'm making the most of my school career," he said. "It feeds my sense of curiosity and exploration, and I'm loving every single hour I can get."

His teacher, Terrie Hunter, says Rookie has grown tremendously in both his confidence and his ability to connect with classmates and mentors.

"Rookie has a great attitude towards school because he's in a place where his ideas and curiosity are fostered and supported," Hunter said. "He really appreciates that he can be himself here."

Rookie has already learned Linux-based software and Microsoft Excel—"Microsoft Excel is where Rookie excels!" Hunter joked—and continues to strengthen his technical writing skills.

"I'm in my senior year, but this program really shows me that there's far more to learn before I'm thrown out into the real world," he said.

He also values how the program has made his career goals feel truly within reach.

"BOCES positively impacts my future plans by letting me experience those plans ahead of time," he said. "My career plans look realistic instead of just some vague dream that used to seem impossible to reach."

DID YOU KNOW?

Through a strong collaboration with the Youth Development Department, the North Syracuse Central School District continues to ensure that every staff member is trained and confident in implementing Therapeutic Crisis Intervention in Schools (TCIS) practices. Throughout the school year, staff will participate in refresher sessions and hands-on simulations designed to help them apply TCIS strategies in real-life scenarios, keeping their skills sharp and their responses grounded in empathy.
