Career & Technical Education

New York State’s approval process for Career and Technical Education (CTE) programs has raised the quality and rigor of courses that prepare students for employment and postsecondary study. Approved programs lead to an industry-recognized credential or certificate at the postsecondary level, or an associate or baccalaureate degree. CTE courses offer students the opportunity to apply academic concepts to real-world situations and prepare them for industry-based assessments or certifications. They have the opportunity to earn college credit or advanced standing while still in high school and take part in work-based learning opportunities where they demonstrate mastery of skills essential in the workplace. In addition, our Technically Endorsed programs, embedded in area businesses, have been recognized by District Administration magazine as one of more than 30 national innovative programs.

In 2021, 412 seniors from OCM BOCES’ component districts were eligible to earn CTE endorsements on their high school diplomas, including Cazenovia students Marysa Avery, Vincent Giordano, Brice Hodges, Lukas Smith, Kendra Wilkinson, and Alyson Woolbert.

OCM BOCES & Cazenovia = Student Success

A special project that brings a touch of joy to students and staff at OCM BOCES and Onondaga Community College is also special for Cazenovia student Sage Byrnes, a first-year student in the OCM BOCES Transition program.

Sage is actively involved in a project that has students collecting flowers and bouquets from previous events at the college, then rearranging them to create several smaller bouquets to share with others. Sage and her classmates deliver the flowers to other students and staff with one goal — “to brighten their day,” Instructor Luke Tatuniza said.

The flower project is just one highlight for Sage in the OCC Transition program, which is designed to give young adults an opportunity to continue their academic studies and gain work experience on a busy college campus. The environment allows students to learn and grow with students their own age, building on the knowledge and skills they will need to become independent and active members of the community. Many of the campus jobs include custodial tasks or helping in campus kitchens or dining halls.

“Sage has done a great job adjusting to the fast pace of school life here at OCC,” Tatuniza said. “We have noticed an increase in her independence in her short time here already.”

Other staff members say Sage has become a great role model for others.

“Sage is an excellent example of what you can accomplish with a positive attitude,” said Susan Brown, a teaching assistant. “She is a very hard worker, and she knows how to speak up for herself.”

“Sage enjoys interacting with others, and her positive attitude rubs off on others,” added Chris Vine, another teaching assistant.

“She always finds a way to get the job done.”

Did You Know?

Collette Farone-Goodwin and Yania Stoker of Mid-State RBERN are collaborating with Cazenovia’s English as a New Language (ENL) department throughout the 2021-22 school year to support the district’s Students with Interrupted/Inconsistent Formal Education (SIFE) by using the New York State Education Department’s Bridges to Academic Success curriculum and sharing our library, which was specifically curated by the American Reading Company to accompany the implementation of the curriculum. The district is also represented in RBERN’s World Language Council, which supports the implementation of the new, revised standards and aligned assessments as well as the New York State Seal of Biliteracy. Cazenovia has a thriving Seal of Biliteracy program, with many students achieving this prestigious designation each year.
